

J Versus J

J lost myself somewhere in the lie
so for that purpose I hired a spy.

He started a search first trough out my mind
but I was not there I was deeper inside.

Then he did a body search all inside and out
but he couldn't find me there, there was not a doubt.

I blamed myself for everything
like I have committed a crime . . .
So I have issued a warrant
on my Ego in prime.

I put myself in prison of questioning mind,
waiting for a trial of any kind.

I trembled before the verdict,
stumbled upon a fear . . .

But everything was forgiven
since judge did not appear.

I let myself free, Oh, what confusion!
All this prison was absolute illusion!